(U//FOUO) 0900 CETC SITREP: Violence Across Multiple U.S. Cities

(U) Prepared by the DHS Intelligence Enterprise (DHS IE), Current and Emerging Threats Center (CETC), coordinated with Counterterrorism Mission Center (CTMC).

1. ~~(U//FOUO)~~ EXECUTIVE SUMMARY: Source [USPER] maintains a social media account with over 1000 followers. The account aggregates antifascist news from around the United States. Source uses the account to incite violence against White Supremacist Extremists (WSEs). In February 2018, Source shared several tips for conducting antifascist attacks with limited visibility.

2. ~~(U//FOUO)~~ On 4 February 2018, Source shared six posts that Source had previously posted in 2017. The posts are written in a humorous style, but point out various ways that antifascists could conduct attacks without drawing attention to themselves.

~~UNCLASSIFIED//FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY~~

3. ~~(U//FOUO)~~ The first post advocates for individuals to carry small fire extinguishers with them while pointing out that the chemicals contained within fire extinguishers cause respiratory distress and potentially blindness when sprayed on others. Source concludes the post by reminding individuals that refillable fire extinguishers can be filled with paint, capsicum, and flammable materials.
4. ~~(U//FOUO)~~ The second post reminds readers that road flares are inexpensive and readily available at auto parts stores and can "EASILY" ignite an entire vehicle if the flare is lit inside the vehicle. Source points out that "backseat cushions are especially flammable". A likely USPER commenter reminds individuals that "state vehicles" and "civilian vehicles" are equally flammable.
5. ~~(U//FOUO)~~ The third post states that light bulbs can be filled with glue and thrown at others, leaving people "sticky and covered in broken glass".
6. ~~(U//FOUO)~~ The fourth post states that empty soda cans can be filled with concrete to make them heavy. Source claims that when thrown, these cans will "hurt as much as a brick" if thrown at people.
7. ~~(U//FOUO)~~ The fifth post urges that in summer an antifascist should wear a "plain short sleeve shirt", "high visibility vest", "dust mask", "hard hat" and "goggles" in order to be undetected and move around without being questioned while conducting actions during the summer. Source also points out that such clothing is inexpensive and can be purchased at hardware stores.
8. ~~(U//FOUO)~~ The sixth post states that readers should tightly tie a "handkerchief or scarf" to a metal ring and attach the ring to a "large heavy duty carabiner" that is then hooked onto a belt loop or backpack.
9. ~~(U//FOUO)~~ On 23 January 2018, Source stated that a named WSE group was currently recruiting. Source then stated that readers should use the opportunity to infiltrate the group in order to "get some hot insider tips" to aid antifascists at the next event by the named WSE group. Source concludes the post by stating "THIS MACHINE KILLS" members of the named WSE group.
10. ~~(U//FOUO)~~ On 24 December 2017, Source posted a lengthy statement inciting violence against a prominent member of the WSE movement who was an organizer for the WSE rally in Charlottesville, Virginia. Source states that the WSE is in need "of at least one punch, preferably a hundred" at one time. In the statement, Source states that antifascists need to begin "organizing now" in order to "beat them much worse". In the comments to the post, Source points out that "Nazis" typically spend Winter recruiting and fundraising for actions during the rest of the year. Source states that antifascists also need to spend Winter the same way "getting ready to burn them down".
11. ~~(U//FOUO)~~ On 21 November 2017, Source posted a statement and an article about law enforcement using "tanks" to respond to noise complaints. While the statement is anti-law enforcement, it does not explicitly incite violence. However, an USPER commenter on the post reminds readers that "MRAPS" can "still burn like any other vehicle would".
